School Board Appointments

Local group seeks change in method

By BILL SHERROD

An effort is being made to change the way in which school board members are appointed in Appomattox County.

Thomas W. Lawson, an Appomattox attorney, has been retained by a group of Appomattox citizens who are seeking to have the rules governing the county school board changed so that the board members will be appointed by the Board of Supervisors.

Currently, the board members are appointed by the School Board Election Commission, which is in turn appointed by the Circuit Court judge.

Lawson says a petition was circulated and signed by more than 15 percent of the eligible county voters who cast ballots in the last presidential election, a prerequisite for the type of change being sought by the citizens spearheading this movement.

The petition and an order signed by the circuit court judge were filed at the county clerk's office Sept. 1, Lawson says. From there they were sent to the State Board of Elections in Richmond.

"Richmond will send the order back to the local board of elections, and it should appear on the ballot in the November elections," Lawson says.

The proposed change which the Appomatox County group hopes to get on the November ballot reads:

"Shall the present method of selecting the members of the County School Board be changed from appointment by the School Board Selection Commission to appointment by the governing body of the county?"

Lawson says the effort to change the appointment method results from "the feeling among some citizens of the county that they have no representation on the school board."

"They feel that if they have a complaint, no one on the board will listen to them," Lawson continues.

If the board of supervisors appointed the School Board members, then the citizens would have at least some indirect influence on decisions made by the school board, Lawson says.

"If the Supervisors ignore the citizens, then the citizens don't have to vote for them in the next election," Lawson explains.

If the proposed change is placed on the November ballot and passes in referendum, then the School Board Selection Commission would be immediately dissolved, and the current school board members would serve out their terms. As the terms ended, the Supervisors would either re-appoint the members to the school board or appoint someone new.

The change would mean that the school board would have someone to answer to," Lawson said. "The voter could mention a complaint or suggestion to the supervisor. Now, the school board has no one to answer to."

Lawson says the effort to change the method in which board members are appointed was sparked by the announcement that the school board is considering closing down the Pamplin Elementary School.

"The people in Pamplin realize this change, if effected, will have no bearing on whether the school is closed," Lawson points out.

"But they feel that the new method of appointing school board members would give them more representation in matters regarding county schools," Lawson concludes.

In MD Telethon

Contributions top $3,150

The Second Annual Appomattox County Muscular Dystrophy Telethon brought in a total of $3157.39 to fight the disease that is a crippler of young people.

The local drive for MDA, with Mayor Ronald Spiggle as Chairman and Mrs. Judy Volturo as Co-Chairman, was held in cooperation with the national effort.

Volunteer workers manned the phones in Appomattox town hall from 9 p.m. Sunday evening until 1 a.m. Monday morning and from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Monday.

Live music was provided at the town office on Monday by the Country Dirters, a local group of musicians as well as a live remote broadcast by WTTX from 1 until 6 p.m.

Refreshments were provided by local businesses.

A softball tournament held in Pamplin brought in a total of $663.05. The fish bowl at the town office for donations collected a total of $866.34 and pledges amounted to $1628.00.

"People were just so cooperative," commented Mrs. Volturo, when the totals were in, "they just kept coming in and bringing their money and calling in their pledges. They were great!"

Bohannon takes contest

In one of the closest season-opening football contests in Appomattox history, David Bohannon slipped past Jeffery Miller and Tracy Chernault on point spread/to win last week's Times-Virginian football contest.

Bohannan, Chernault and Miller accurately predicted all but three of the 23 games in the contest.

Miller and Chernault each missed accurately predicting the outcome of the E. C. Glass-William Fleming game, the Liberty-Baptist -Mars Hill game, and the Baylor-Lamar game.

Bohannon missed accurately predicting the outcome of Rutgers-Syracuse game, the Heritage-Pulaski game, and the Baylor-Lamar game.

In the tiebreaker competition where each contestant tries to accurately predict the exact score of two specified games, Bohannon had the lowest point spread in predicting the scores of the Appomattox Gretna and Buckingham Cumberland games, and was declared the winner of the contest.

It was close, however, Bohannon's point differential of 29 points was followed closely by Jeffery Miller's 33 points, Tracy Chernault was also very close, with a 41-point differential.

As a winner of the contest Bohannon, who hails from Route 1, Appomattox, will receive a check for $20 from the Times-Virginian.

Miller, a Concord resident, will receive a check for taking second-place in the contest.

The football contest, a weekly feature of the Times-Virginian during the fall season, was unusually close last week, the first week of the 1981 season.

Along with the three contestants who missed but three of the 23 games in the contest, seven persons were also in the running, missing accurately predicting the outcomes of only four of the 23 games. Those people included Scott Paulette, Evelyn Austin, Jim Bollinger, Blair Smith, Buster Austin, Marshall Cheatham, and Steve Marshall.

The football contest, a popular Times-Virginian feature for several years, is offered again this week inside.

Full details regarding the rules and prizes of the game can be found on the football contest page.

Adult Education registration set

Registration for first-semester adult education classes will start this week.

Adults who are interested and who want to participate in classes that are being offered the first semester by the Appomattox County School Division are requested to register now by calling 352-8253 between the hours of 8:30 - 5:00 or by mailing in a registration form.

Please look at the class schedule located elsewhere in this issue of the Times-Virginian for information concerning classes offered.

"It is very important that persons pre-register for classes," states R. B. Carter, Coordinator of Adult Education. "Pre-registration is used to determine whether enrollment is sufficient to offer a particular class. An enrollment of ten persons is required for a class to be offered."

Persons who desire information concerning an adult class are requested to contact the School Board Office by calling 352-8253.

Library hours extended

During the past year, the Appomattox County School Board has received numerous requests to open the County Library at least two Saturday mornings each month.

As a result of these requests, the school board has, on an experimental basis, established the following schedule for the County Library beginning on Sept. 1 and extending through Dec. 31:

Regular daily schedule - 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Closed on first and third Monday of each month.

Opened second and fourth Saturday of each month from 9 to noon.

PTA, board meeting set

A meeting scheduled for next Tuesday between the Pamplin PTA and the Appomattox County School Board will likely be a stormy one, according to sources in Pamplin.

The meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 15 at the Pamplin Elementary School, was arranged recently after it was announced that the school board is considering closing down Pamplin Elementary School after this school year.

Sentiment in Pamplin is strongly opposed to the idea of closing the school, according to Jim Webb, mayor of Pamplin.

Webb said last week that the Mayor and COuncil of the town of Pamplin have passed a resolution opposing the idea of closing the school.

In addition, Webb said, a large number of people have signed up with the Pamplin PTA in order to oppose the proposed closing.

Lloyd Walton, superintendent of schools in Appomattox County, said the school board will discuss the possibility of closing the school with the PTA. Walton noted that board members will present figures on possible savings that would result from closing the school.

He stressed, however, that the board "has not made the decision to close the school," and would make no decision, one way or the other, until after the public hearing.

Father Darkleaf

By CALVIN ROBINSON

With the Labor Day holiday week-end behind us, we will now set up a variety of fall events. Four more holidays this year. Columbus Day, Oct. 12. Veteran's Day, Nov. 11. Thanksgiving, Nov. 26. Christmas, Dec. 25. Check it out as to observance on Mondays. Labor Day week-end was quiet. I kept waiting for someone to drop a pin. Believe could have heard it all the way to Martha Street. Schools were holidaying, factories closed and lots of people out of town. Mostly, on Labor Day the laborer resteth.

Had the sticker on my windshield changed from a 9 to a 3. With a '03 model, I do not drive enough to stir up trouble. Do not neglect your car inspection if you have an expiring sticker. While I was at it, got the car ready for winter. Also ready for any inspection is my back lot. Had it gone over with a bush hog and left only two sunflowers, some blooming zinnia and one tomato plant. Yes, have oncoming figs, now size of marbles. Some years ago was given an Hawaiian hibiscus plant and it is in bloom. Delicate red bloom on four-foot stalk.

A salute to The Raiders of ACHS. Won opening football game and we will tackle the rest of the schedule a game at a time. Do not have the schedule at hand but think the last game is Nov. 6, with Buckingham here.

Not only was I delighted to receive two newspapers from San Francisco, but they were brought in person! Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jordon came by last week to visit and bring The San Fancisco Chronicle and The San Francisco Examiner. Two outstanding newspapers to add to my collection. Mrs. Jordon was the former Kay Honeycutt, of Appomattox. Mr. Jordon (six foot five inches) played basketball at Amherst H. S. and is now in San Francisco University Law School. He will specialize in traffice and taxation law. Mrs. Jordon is a legal technician. Best of luck, and enjoyed your visit.

In late summer, 1931, I made my first visit to Appomattox and arranged to purchase The Times-Virginian from the late A. H. Clement. Took possession on Sept. 15. One of my first acts was to select a name for a front page column. The name chosen was intended to be a salute to our bread and butter crop, dark-fired tobacco. Thus, the Father Darkleaf column is fifty years old this month. Any readers from those early days? This week I have recall details of what Appomatox was like fifty years ago. And at the depth of the Great Depression. That the county, town, the paper and the people made it is worth remembering. The first subscription money I collected was from the late J. H. O'Brien. Four, six or eight pages. Local merchants included L. E. Smith, H. M. Burge, W. R. Reynolds, J. D. and W. M. Morris, H. C. Babcock, Rosser's Mill, Smith's Mill, Chas. F. James, druggist, Justin Burkey, Appomattox Hardware, White Front, Moses Motor Co., Miss Emma Smith's furniture store, and a few others. Two fine banks, hotel, and above all the will to grow. Thanks for reading-all fifty years.

NECESSITY IS THE MOTHER OF INVENTION--Russell Moore of Richwood Estates, Route 1, Appomattox didn't have a ladder so he did the next best thing. He backed up a flat-bed truck, took seat in a chair and then it was easy!

DAVID O'BRIEN, 12, a student at Appomattox Middle School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly O'Brien collected a total of $802.49 for Muscular Dystrophy over a two-week period. David, who stationed himself in front of Wilbun's Super Market, has a special interest in the fight against MD - he's had six cousins to die from this illness.
